INTRODUCTION TO LOOKAHEAD – SPECIALISMS – HOMELESSNESS & COMPLEX NEEDS

From our 40 years of experience, we know there are many reasons why people become homeless with no one solution. These individuals often have a range of complex, inter-related needs including alcohol and substance dependence, mental and physical health conditions and histories of often complex trauma.

We therefore provide a range of services to support individuals who have experiences of homelessness, 'sofa surfing' or previous accommodation or tenancy breakdown. These include hostels, small supported housing services, specialist women's schemes and a number of floating support services. The aim of all of these services is to support people to leave rough sleeping and the streets for good, by providing them with the specialist support and stability they need to move forwards in their lives.

Drawing on our expertise from our Mental Health schemes, our homelessness and complex needs services deliver psychologically informed, person-centred support, based on our Recovery model. In addition, across our 17 accommodation-based complex needs services, we deliver Psychologically Informed Environments (PIE). This is where the overall approach, design and day-to-day running of each service is informed by the emotional and psychological needs on the individuals who live there.
